

LIV Question: What was the DHS budget in the Big Beautiful Bill.

Venice: The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) received a massive multi-year funding package through the One Big Beautiful Bill Act (OBBBA).<sup>^1,2^</sup> The final enacted law provided approximately $191.02 billion for DHS.<sup>^6</sup> This funding is designed to be spent over several years, primarily through fiscal year 2029.<sup>^2,4^</sup>

This supplemental funding is in addition to the department's regular annual appropriations. For context, the standard FY 2026 discretionary budget request for DHS was $63.7 billion.<sup>^2</sup>

The OBBBA funding is heavily focused on immigration and border security. Key allocations include:

- Approximately $75 billion for Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE).

<sup>3</sup>

- $50 billion for the border wall and related security technologies.<sup>^4</sup>
- $45 billion for the construction of new immigration detention centers.<sup>^4</sup>
- $8 billion for ICE to hire 10,000 new officers through 2029.<sup>^4</sup>

A significant feature of this funding is that it allows ICE and Customs and Border Protection (CBP) to continue their operations during a lapse in annual appropriations, while other DHS components like FEMA, TSA, and the Coast Guard would be forced to shut down or work without pay.<sup>1</sup>
